

About NetBizForum!

Written by Administrator

Monday, 01 December 2008 23:31 - Last Updated Wednesday, 03 December 2008 12:46

We've just launched NetBizForum.com ! Our goal is to create a virtual meeting place for those interested in internet-based home businesses. There's a lot of information out there about reseller programs, affiliate programs, and other ways of making money. But one thing is clear: there are no easy ways to make money and you need to put in the time and effort. We've also found that it's very difficult to find all of this information in one place and to have an honest forum for getting and sharing advice. So with this goal in mind, we have create

NetBizForum.com

. There are main sections to the site:

- A portal (what you're looking at right now) where we'll be publishing articles
- A forum that we'll use to host discussions
- A directory of resources that'll put a wealth of information at your fingertips. Including: affiliates and reseller, hosting and domain registration services, places to get logos, icons, and banner, and legal/business resources.

Stay tuned. There's more to come!

P